

International Society for Justice Research Conference 2021

Doctoral Student Consortium

A Doctoral Student Consortium hosted by the International Society for Justice Research (ISJR) will be held on July 7, 2021, as part of the ISJR annual conference.

In line with the annual conference theme, “Exploring social justice: Terra firma and terra incognita”, the Doctoral Student Consortium is designed to ignite your creative spark by offering opportunities to meet social justice scholars, explore ideas, and co-create. Prepare to submit a proposal for the day’s Research Incubator and take up challenges during two on-demand sessions Callings and Careers and The New/Old World of Teaching.

The Research Incubator will run live, and attendees should plan to participate synchronously on July 7, 2021, for approximately 3 hours. On-demand materials will be made available to Consortium attendees from July 6 to July 8.

We invite doctoral students and postgraduate researchers to apply. Please share this information with anyone who may be interested in applying. Places are limited, and will be allocated on first come first served basis.

HOW TO APPLY

Please send a cv (including teaching experience) and a research proposal you would like to discuss and develop at the Doctoral Student Consortium by 21:00 (Lisbon time) on May 21, 2021 to contact@isjr2021.org. Please use “DC application” in your subject line.

Research proposals will address the following questions in less than 1,000 words (4-page, Times New Roman 12 point, double-spaced, excluding References):

1. What is your research question and why is it interesting/important?
2. What literatures and methodologies do you see as most relevant to your project? Provide 1-2 representative citations for each.
3. What help do you need to advance your project?

The Doctoral Student Consortium will run free of charge but please submit a reference/description/link to one interactive exercise that teaches something important about justice with your application (in the text of your email or as attachment).
